Fundamentos para la atención compasiva del paciente con cáncer

Sección 4: Resumen de información clínica

Referencias bibliográficas

Capítulo 26

Capítulo 27

Capítulo 29

Capítulo 30

Capítulo 31

Capítulo 32

Capítulo 33

Capítulo 34

Capítulo 35

Capítulo 37

Capítulo 38

Capítulo 39

Capítulo 40

Capítulo 41

Capítulo 43

Capítulo 44

Capítulo 45

Capítulo 46

Capítulo 48

Capítulo 49

Capítulo 50

Capítulo 51

Capítulo 27.

Capítulo 52

Capítulo 53

Capítulo 54

Capítulo 55

Capítulo 56

Capítulo 57

Capítulo 58

Capítulo 59

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Reference</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Hershey AE, Dubielzieg RR, Helfand SC: Overexpression of p53 in feline vaccine-associated</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Cook JL, Turk JR, Tomlinson JL, et al: Fibrosarcoma in the distal radius and carpus of a four-</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Doddy FD, Glickman LT, Glickman NW, Janovitz EB: Feline fibrosarcoma at vaccination sites.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>with surgery and radiation therapy on spontaneous canine and feline fibrosarcomas. JAVHA 31:</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Trout NJ, Pavletic MM, Kraus KH: Partial scapulexectomy in the management of sarcomas in three</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Brown NO, Patnaik AK, Mooney SC, et al: Soft tissue sarcomas in the cat. JAVMA 173:744–779,</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>1978.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Levy MS, Mauldin G, Kapatkin AS, Patnaik AK: Nonlymphoid vertebral canal tumors in cats: 11</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Bongiovanni S, Bengtson AE, Gliatto JM, et al: Prognostic indicators associated with adjuvant</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Bostock DE, Dye MT: Prognosis after surgical excision of fibrosarcoma in cats. JAAHA 16:719–</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Hahn KA, Endicot MM, King GK, et al: Evaluation of radiotherapy alone or in combination with</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>doxorubicin chemotherapy for the treatment of cats with incompletely excised soft tissue</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Martano M, Morello E, Uggheto M, et al: Surgery alone versus surgery and doxorubicin for the</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Braun RC, Withrow SJ, Powers BE: Partial or total hemipelvectomy in the management of sarcomas</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Bowmann KLT, Birchard SJ, Bright RM: Complications associated with the implantation of</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>polypropylene mesh in dogs and cats: A retrospective study of 21 cases (1984–1996). JAVHA 34:</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Saba CF, Vail DM, Thamm DH: Phase II clinical evaluation of lomustine chemotherapy for feline</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Hahn KA, Endicott MM, King GK, et al: Evaluation of radiotherapy alone or in combination with</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>doxorubicin chemotherapy for the treatment of cats with incompletely excised soft tissue</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Hillman DE, Gillette EL: Radiotherapy of spontaneous fibrous connective-tissue sarcomas in</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Bongiovanni S, Bengtson AE, Gliatto JM, et al: Prognostic indicators associated with adjuvant</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Bregazzi VS, LaRue SM, McNiel E, et al: Treatment with a combination of doxorubicin, surgery,</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>and radiation versus surgery and radiation alone for cats with vaccine-associated sarcomas: 25</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Kleiter M, Leschnik M: Postoperative chemotherapy zur behandlung eines zweifach rezidivierten</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>with surgery and radiation therapy on spontaneous canine and feline fibrosarcomas. JAVMA 31:</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Doddy FD, Glickman LT, Glickman NW, Janovitz EB: Feline fibrosarcomas at vaccination sites and</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>